For the first part of the lesson, I read aloud the Previewing the Unit excerpt from our SpringBoard books. As I read, I was thinking aloud about the research we've already done this year (using our claims and evidence from The Fourth Stall as an example), and how research is done to prove a point (like in the Bigfoot article we read).. I think it was important to reiterate that the research ...

bestselling Lifespan Development text that provides a panoramic view of the many influences that shape human development. Kuther's student-friendly narrative guides the reader through immersive video cases and real-world examples to illustrate how the places, sociocultural environments, and ways in which we are raised influence who we become and how we grow and change throughout our lives. Three core themes resonate throughout each chapter: the centrality of context, the importance of research, and the value of applied developmental science. Foundational theories and classic studies are combined with contemporary research and culturally diverse perspectives for a modern introduction to the field that is both comprehensive and concise. Visual overviews, case studies, and critical thinking questions encourage self-reflection and class discussion, ensuring students have the tools they need to apply
