This is the real-life story of Eurasian refugee Rachel, who was forced to flee her home country because of her mother's religion. Told in Rachel's own words, the story describes the feelings of fear and anxiety immigrant children face as they try to rebuild their lives in a new country.

This picture book tells the story of 13-year-old refugee Rachel who, along with her family, flees her home country to escape the persecution they suffer as Christians living in a predominantly Muslim country. Told in Rachel's own words, it documents the hostility and rejection that the family suffer at the hands of their community, as well as the courage and resilience they show in the face of immigration authorities, detention centres, deportation and, finally, in overcoming their problems and settling in their new country. The BAFTA award-winning Seeking Refuge stories were originally produced as animations for the BBC. These powerful and evocative stories have now been captured in book form as rich, visual testimonies of the torment, hope and resolution of young refugees who are seeking asylum and adjusting to life in new countries all over the world. The series of five books form an excellent cross-curricular resource that looks at asylum, war, separation and integration and what it is to be a refugee today making them ideal for tying into Refugee Week.

In Rachel's Journey, Rachel leaves her home to travel alone into the world. This journey is her only chance for a future, as she uses her skills against the wild and those who fight against her. She will meet new friends but also must battle her family's old foes. Evil is triumphing, and Rachel must join the Opposition and help fight for freedom. Can one young girl make a difference in the world? Her God says that nothing is impossible with Him, so Rachel only has one choice. Can she find her future and help her people?

Rachel isn't sure where she fits into a life of farming and ranching. It's not a bad life... but she feels like there is something missing. When her little brother becomes very ill, it gives her the perfect excuse to embark on a journey for the cure. The risk involved, however, is high as she travels alone through unknown territory, encounters strangers, and must be on guard against creatures that would only be found in the worst nightmares. Her love for her brother is the only thing that Rachel knows to be true in her uncertain future and is her only motivation to not turn back at the most treacherous moments.

In her journal, Rachel chronicles her family's adventures traveling by covered wagon on the Oregon Trail in 1850.

Written teen to teen as a first-person narrative, this is not a book about the Columbine shootings - instead, it's a story of faith, told in Rachel's own words. The book includes first person narratives, journal entries, drawings from Rachel's diary, and notes from her parents and friends at Columbine High School. Additionally, "me pages" (what makes me angry, what I'm afraid of) encourage teens to explore issues central to their lives and faith. Highlighting Rachel's faith journey from the time she became a Christian, through her joys and doubts, her hopes and dreams, this story is a triumphant testimony that teens will treasure.

The parents of Rachel, born blind and brain-damaged, document the courage, love, humor, and faith they and their older daughter share with this special child and of the irrevocable changes their lives have undergone

"--from the foreword by Arthur L. Caplan, NYU School of Medicine

What would you do if you awoke in a hospital room with people calling you by a name that is not your name?What would you do if you looked in the mirror and did not recognize the person looking back at you?What would you do if your last memories were of a life that no one except you knows about?Rachel's Journey Home is the story of a woman who is stuck with someone else's memories living someone else's life!Rachel's story takes the reader through experiences of a convoluted web of relationships, drama and in depth soul searching that brings a curious surprising conclusion for Rachel's Journey home.
