Verb Tenses. Complete sentences require a subject and a verb. Verbs are used either to describe action or to link a subject to a description (e. g., “ The subject is important ”). In English, verbs convey three important pieces of information: (1) the type of action, (2) the time of the action, and (3) whether the action is simple or progressive.

Verb System — Hunter College

In English grammar, verb tenses or forms indicate the moment when something happens, such as the past, present, or future. These three primary forms can be subdivided further to add detail and specificity, such as whether the action is ongoing or to describe the order in which events occurred. For example, the present simple verb tense concerns actions that happen every day, while the past simple verb tense refers to something that happens in the past.

Verbs come in three tenses: past, present, and future. The past is used to describe things that have already happened (e.g., earlier in the day, yesterday, last week, three years ago). The present tense is used to describe things that are happening right now, or things that are continuous. The future tense describes things that have yet to happen (e.g., later, tomorrow, next week, next year, three years from now).
